AIM Launches New Guidance for Museum Archive Management

AIM has just launched a new online publication called Successfully Managing Archives in Museums as part of its popular Success Guide series. Authored by Emma Chaplin and Janice Tullock and funded by The National Archives, this is the eighteenth Success Guide published by AIM.

The guide has been created to help museum staff and volunteers understand archive collections management and to support them to make decisions on how and when it might best be applied to their collections. You can find out more about the creation of this new Success Guide and why it's useful for any size museum here.

Trustees' Week 2015

There are over one million trustee positions in England and Wales, so don't forget to celebrate yours during Trustees' Week which runs this year 2–8 November. There will be more information about Trustees' Week on the AIM Blog in the run up to the event, and we would like to hear how you plan on celebrating at your museum. Please email: sassy@aim-museums.co.uk to be included. The Guardian Newspaper is also inviting nominations for the Trustee of the year 2015.
